

DAVE C DEEMED MOST PROLIFIC COCK-KISSER

Enmore Wed 29 Nov 2023:

The last week of the 2023 Nick Power Cup challenge saw Dave C take it out again giving him a hat-trick by winning 3 comps in a row, equalling the record of having his name on the cup 3 times, as well as becoming the most prolific of all cock-kissers on the planet. Whilst Peter T also has the honour of having had his name engraved on the cup 3 times, he has not had the, some say dubious, honour of kissing the cock as much as not all of his wins were achieved after the introduction of the now-infamous cock-kissing ceremony.

Above: Dave C, NPC 2023 winner, performing the outgoing winner's kissing... wait... rimming of the cock's arse followed by a rather unconventional tongue of the cock's beak as the receiving winner much to the crowd's delight

Above: Peter T (left) welcoming Dave C (right) to the exclusive Triple Cock-Holder Club

Dave's journey to glory was not made easy by the many other contenders battling it out to grab the honour and headlines. These included the highly-respected "spoilers" who, after having been knocked out of contention, are there to ensure the front-runners are kept on their toes.

Dean, whose relentless and dogged determination to get his name back on the trophy was right at the heels of Dave throughout this year's event. Alas, Dean's hopes were dashed in the third round by Garth, himself vying for 1st, who went on to win the night but still had to settle for 3rd overall for 2023.

Spoiler Peter T had his chance to take out Dave C in the second round which may have paved the pathway to glory for Dean or Garth, however, failed to take out Dave C in the second round although he did give Dave some bum-buzzer moments indeed.

Another bum-buzzing for Dave came in his match against François, once again relatively sober enough to give Dave several "ooh la la" moments.

Col, arriving late into the comp and having no chance to take the honours but willing, as always, to take on a spoiler role was cruelly knocked out of that role by a very early premature eblaculation in his first-round match against Peter T.

John L, desperate to stay amongst the top-rankers, may have been his own worst enemy by bringing bad karma on himself by resorting to the use of the jigger, more commonly referred to as the chick stick or seafood extender.

Dave G, turning up in all black including his latest "lucky" headband attempt, looked like he was all set to perform a haka war dance to intimidate his opponents. And, as expected, his choice of apparel once again had very little, if no, bearing on his results on the night and he sat out the rest of the night after his first-round knockout by Garth.

Above: Dave G consulting his pool and fashion guru, Dalai Aidan, post-match as Dave explains how far off the pocket his last shot was

It is rumoured that Dave has already initiated his comeback and launched a fund-raising campaign "Dave G 2024". We wish him all the best with this new bewildering concept.

In a shocking break from tradition, newcomer Liam, failed to comply with the time-honoured tradition of performing a pants-down after losing to Ross in the first round with no balls down. Stewards are reviewing the incident and considering disciplinary action. This unsettling moment did not deter Ross from moving into the third round to challenge Dave C albeit unsuccessfully.

In another shockingly irregular incident, another punter (name withheld although his non-deplume is JJS) reportedly claimed the previous week that he should have been awarded a point for the black after sinking it then going in-off. For clarity, this is not how it works and points are not awarded following a foul on the black (although this does not apply to other balls).

Disappointingly, a number of previous 2023 attendees were noticeably absent from the evening's fun including Bag of Dicks, OG Kate and Jack. It was rumoured on the night that BoD was so distraught because for the first 2 weeks he had been unable to find a big enough dick in his bag to pull it off.

Also absent were rumoured-to-attend celebrities, Bodacious, Kat and Harry de Bastard. One can only speculate as to the reasons for their absences.

Above: Happy punters regardless that all bar one were losers

On behalf of all HPDPers and, in particular, the NPCers give it up for Henare for once again diligently and devotedly updating the HPDP NPC source of truth and enlightenment NPC statistics at: stats.hpdp.org.au/2023/